

Wanderers aim for an Enfield double

AFTER losing the first part of a vital two match programme in the Rothmans Isthmian League at Dagenham on Saturday, Wycombe Wanderers take on Enfield tomorrow (Saturday) at Loakes Park.

Dagenham and Enfield occupy the two places above and below Wanderers respectively in Division One and last week's 2-1 defeat at Victoria Road will make the Blues doubly anxious to win tomorrow.

They have the added incentive of a 2-0 victory at Enfield earlier in the campaign. The winning margin was rather flattering with the two goals coming in the late stages, Howard Kennedy scoring after 82 minutes and Ian Pearson making sure of the points with a 92nd minute penalty.

Wanderers have one or two injury doubts with Dylan Evans almost certain to be out of action. Dylan, who came on as substitute at Dagenham, has had his injured hand replastered as the broken bone was not settling. Mick Holifield is due for a return after missing three games with knee ligament trouble but both full backs — Paul Birdseye and Bob Davies — are struggling with bruised toes.

FRASER BACK?

There is a chance that Gavin Fraser might be brought into the team for his first game since the Reading F.A. Cup-tic, especially if one of the two full-backs is out.

Enfield are also worried by injuries and are currently trying to lift themselves out of a rut which has seen them draw twice and lose twice in their last four outings.

Leading goalscorer John Bishop, who has 24 goals to his credit, has been out of action with a leg injury recently, but should be fit, while definitely out of action is Mick O'Sullivan (knee injury). Phil Fry is also struggling with a groin strain. Peter McGillicuddy, who turned down a contract with Millwall earlier in the year, has recently been suspended and fined after walking out on the club while Derek Baker is on the transfer list at his own request.

Enfield's problems started after their 4-0 F.A. Cup defeat at Crystal Palace. Results began to go wrong for them and four points were dropped in their two home league games against Dagenham and Leytonstone which both ended in 1-1 draws. That was followed by a 2-1 home defeat against Hayes in the Middlesex Senior Cup and a 0-2 reverse in the league at Bishop's Stortford.

Former Wycombe favourite Keith Searle scored the goal against Hayes and has 13 this season.
